Folks:

This is the agenda I sent to the State (who agreed to it) and then to the remaining parties:

Introductions

Procedure & Timing of a Potential Settlement:

- Structure of Potential Settlement
- Timing of Potential SIP Revisions and SIP Revision Process
- Process for Parties to Participate
- What each Party needs in order to reach a settlement

Discussion Regarding Substance of and Barriers to Settlement:

- White Bluff Remaining Useful Life Issues
- Flint Creek
- Independence
- NOx Compliance Dates
- CSAPR better than BART for NOx

Concerns

Next Steps

Thanks for your inputs on this.

Samara

Folks:

We now have a meeting with all interested litigants to discuss the Entergy controls in the Arkansas Regional Haze plan. The parties in attendance will be EPA, ADEQ, Entergy, the Energy & Environmental Alliance of Arkansas (EEAA), the Arkansas Electric Cooperative Corp (AECC), the Arkansas Affordable Energy Coalition (AAEC), Sierra Club, and the National Parks Conservation Association (NPCA).

I expect that we will discuss two broad topics: 1) procedure and timing of a potential settlement, and 2) substance of any revisions that would be incorporated into a potential settlement, including any barriers to reaching agreement on the various issues. As a matter of strategy, I would like to use the meeting to focus on getting what we need out of Entergy (e.g. have they committed to plans for how long they intend to operate their units, have they provided DSI costing information), the industry groups (are they going to agree to anything the State and Entergy agree to or do they have other concerns), and the environmental petitioners (e.g. will they drop their suit against EPA if they reach a separate agreement with Entergy and/or the State, and do they expect to reach such an agreement). Since ADEQ will be at Region 6 the next day, we will have a separate opportunity to continue pressing for things we need from them directly (like the letter Sam Coleman requested committing to issuing a SIP revision, deadlines for taking action, and information regarding how they intend to handle things like CSAPR).

If desired, we can have a "precall" to discuss this in more detail.

Please forward this invite to any EPA folks who should participate. As this meeting is designated a "settlement meeting," please make sure anyone joining knows that the meeting should be treated as confidential.

We'll use the following call-in number: (866) 410-9426, conference code 6782902.

Best,

Samara Spence
